The Phenomenon Bruno Gröning

In 1949 one name dominates the headlines: Bruno Gröning. Newspapers print special editions, radio and newsreels report about him. A film is made. Wherever he goes, thousands of people throng from all over to see him. Gröning becomes an international sensation.

There is no incurable

Most of those who come to him are not fans or followers. They are sick people. Beaten down by war, given up on by doctors, these people had only one wish: to become healthy, free from suffering and pain. They want Bruno Gröning to help them. And he does help them. “There is no incurable – God is the greatest physician!” Those are his words. And the inconceivable happens: countless sick people become healthy – the lame walk, the blind see.

On the Tracks of the Miracle Healer

The documentary film “The Phenomenon Bruno Gröning – on the Tracks of the Miracle Healer” traces the dramatic events of that time with original film and sound recordings, archival material, more than 50 eyewitness interviews, as well elaborate film re-enactments. All this makes the film a deeply impressive experience.

A film with a special power

Many viewers report that while watching the film, they suddenly noticed an energy, a tingling sensation, a current in their body. For most, this was a totally new experience. Some even reported the disappearance of pain, disability and other ailments.

Healings even today

Gröning died in 1959. But extraordinary healings are still occurring today. How is this possible? The power, which worked through Bruno Gröning back then, continues to work. The facts speak for themselves: healings from cancer, angina pectoris, rheumatism and osteoporosis, as well as from drug and other addictions. Doctors confirm these successes.

See this film and convince yourself about the Phenomenon Bruno Gröning.
